

A gliding flight has 0 thrust, which has a drag of

$$D = W \sin \theta_g$$

When climbing, the drag is

$$D = -W \sin \theta_c$$

With thrust, the drag is

$$D = T - W \sin \theta_c$$

Solving for T gives us

$$T = D + W \sin \theta_c$$